Today is Saturday. My friends Jasper and George come to my home and play. We are happily playing squid game. Suddenly, George says he is hungry, so we stop playing and go to have lunch.

We go to Yummy Food Stall. There are many food and drinks to order. I like eating potatoes, so I order some French fries and a bottle of water. Then, I ask my friends, 'What do you want to eat?' George says, 'I am very hungry now! I want to order a hamburger and a bottle of water.' Jasper says, 'I want something healthy. I want a bottle of water and a salad.' I say, 'Good! Let's order now.' We go to the checkout and order our food. The cashier says, 'It's sixty dollars altogether.' George says, 'Oh! I have a discount coupon. We can pay twenty dollars less. We are so pleased.

Finally, we use forty dollars only to buy our food. We save twenty dollars, so we use the money to buy some potatoes. The potatoes taste good. We are very happy.
