Topic: The Great Cuisine Competition

My name is Bruce. Last week, I joined the Great Cuisine Competition at school in our Christmas party.

Guess what kinds of cuisine I would like to make? I would like to make a Peking duck but our school couldn't provide a big oven for that. Then, I gave up on the idea. I would like to make Chicken Curry but one of my classmates, Peter had already decided to make it. Never mind. I decided to make an Italian pizza. I thought it was a god idea.

However, it was too late. My classmate Simpson had already decided to make it. Alright. I would like to make a dish of fried rice with seafood. It was too late again. My best friend Candy would make it. It was fine. Then I decided to make sushi.

All my classmates make a different cuisine for the competition. Miss Chan and Principal Leung were the judges. They said 'All the cuisines are delicious. The winner is Fenwick. She made barbecue ribs. They are super yummy.' We congratulated her and shared all the food we made.

After the competition, we had a great Christmas class party at school. Everyone had a great time. Merry Christmas Everyone.
