Christmas Presents for Presents

Christmas is coming, I want to buy some presents for my friends, Jack, Charlie, Sarah, Mike and Zac. Today I go to Sunnyside Shopping Mall to look for the presents.

First, I go into a toy shop. There are different kinds of toys. The shop is doing a sale on puzzles. If I buy five mini puzzles, I only need to pay ninety dollars. But I remember my friend Jack loves Lego brick sets, so I buy a Lego robot set for him. It is eighty dollars.

After that, I go into a book shop. I want to buy Charlie a book about dinosaurs. When I take the book to the cashier, the lady says, 'It is seventy dollars in total.' I open my wallet and yell, 'Oh no! I only have twenty dollars left in my wallet!'...

Then, I go back to my house and shout loudly to my mum, 'I don't have enough money to buy gifts for my friends.' Mum replies calmly, 'You can take some money from my cabinet.' So, I get five hundred dollars and go back to the bookshop. I buy the book for Charlie. Then, I go to the bakery and buy a cake for Sarah. I also go to the clothes shop and buy a T-shirt for Mike. Next, I go to the toy shop and buy a toy car for Zac. It is four hundred dollars altogether.

I feel over the moon because I prepare a lot of amazing gifts for my lovely friends. I learn to think clearly about whether I have enough money before buying things.
