BEE CAREFUL WHEN YOU PLAY FRISBEE

Today, Tom and I went to the playground. When we arrived at the playground, we took out our frisbee and immediately played. While we were playing, there were also other kids playing on the side. After a while, we finally found an appropriate place and played excitedly.

Meanwhile, we threw and caught the frisbee constantly, but we didn't think it was boring as we hadn't played frisbee for 2 months. It was incredible. We were still playing with our frisbee after 30 minutes. I felt very exhausted, so I suggested, 'Tom, shall we rest for a while?' And Tom accepted it straight away as he also felt worn out. After resting, we went back to the same place and immediately played with our frisbee again.

Unfortunately, I accidentally hit a beehive with my frisbee. Although Tom had already tried his best to catch it, he couldn't even touch it. Then the beehive fell down, and the bees inside the beehive just flew out. I shouted, 'Tom! Run away!' Unfortunately, we couldn't escape them, so we tried to wave and hoped that it would make the bees go away, but it didn't work. Therefore, we got attacked and stung by them so our parents brought us to the hospital.

Eventually, the doctor told us that we needed to stay at home for one week and take some medicine. This experience taught me a lesson - 'Don't play frisbee near a beehive.'
